We're Stuff & Nonsense, a British web design studio with a worldwide reputation for designing websites that look beautiful and work wonderfully on every type of device.

When something is designed to work beautifully, it tends to look that way, too.

Nothing we've ever created has been designed just to look beautiful. That's approaching the opportunity from the wrong end. Instead, as we reconsidered iOS, our purpose was to create an experience that was simpler, more useful, and more enjoyable — while building on the things people love about iOS. Ultimately, redesigning the way it works led us to redesign the way it looks. Because good design is design that's in service of the experience.

Does anyone have any recommendation for Napa Valley? Hotel, area etc.?

Avoid the wine train. Make a plan before you go about which places you want to visit and be realistic about how many places you can visit. Work backward so the last winery is closest to your hotel so you don't have to drive much after drinking. Check out Napa visitor websites and winery websites for tasting coupons.

Guilhem Glaunès I'm sorry to be the one to tell you, but you'll never get better than a living room for this price if you want to live close to campus.
